The communication dated 03/06/08 has been considered with the following results:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. It is unclear where the specification originally contains the written description of the subject matter “determining whether a cycle of the detected wobble signal is 186 times or 32 times as long as data cycle, by comparing the cycle of the detected wobble signal to a cycle of the reproduced signal”, as now recited in claim 1, lines 4-6; or the written description of the subject matter “determiner for determining whether a cycle of the wobble signal detected by the detector is 186 times or 32 times as long as data cycle, by comparing the cycle of the wobble signal to a cycle of the reproduced signal”, as now recited in claim 2, lines 6-8. According to the specification, 32T is determined by detection circuits 52 by using the cycle of the wobble signal times a reference clock having the same cycle as the data cycle (see page 11, lines 13-19), and 186T is also determined in the same way by detection circuit 54. The original specification does not disclose any thing related to the comparison between the cycles, particularly the comparison between the cycle of the wobble signal and the cycle of the reproduced signal as currently recited in the claims 1 and 2.

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1 and 2 recite that the cycle of the detected wobble signal is 186 times or 32 times as long as data cycle, by comparing the cycle of the detected wobble signal to a cycle of the reproduced signal. However, it is unclear from the claims as to where a reproduced signal is originated since no step or source is provided in the claims to reproduce such signal.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1 and 2 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

Response to Arguments

6. In response to Applicant's arguments filed 03/06/08, Applicant should note the specification, according to page 2, lines 19-20 and page 9, lines 1-7, as pointed out by applicant, do not mention or disclose anything related to the limitation of "determining whether a cycle of the detected wobble signal is 186 times or 32 times as long as data cycle, by comparing the cycle of the detected wobble signal to a cycle of the reproduced signal". According to the specification, 32T is determined by detection circuits 52 by using the cycle of the wobble signal times a reference clock having the same cycle as the data cycle (see page 11, lines 13-19), and 186T is also determined in the same way by detection circuit 54. The original specification does not disclose any thing related to the comparison between the cycles, particularly the comparison between the cycle of the wobble signal and the cycle of the reproduced signal as currently recited in the claims 1 and 2. Therefore, the rejections applied to claims 1 and 2 under 35 U.S.C first and second paragraphs will be maintained.

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
